

Monday Special

Knitted Union Suits, regular-ly 39c..... 25c
It's a garment one never gets too many of in summer time.
This lot—just 20 dozen—are fine-ribbed, very sheer and elastic—choice of lace trimmed pants or tight knee—comfortable and perfect fitting.
Remember, these are for to-day only.

We Close 5 P. M.

Kaufmann & Co.
Corner Fourth and Broad Streets.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mrs. Thomas C. Jeffress and her niece, Miss Virginia Haskins, of "Meadow Brook," sailed Saturday morning from New York City on board the steamship Minnewaska for England. They expect to spend most of their time for the next month visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jeffress at their country estate, "Kenton Grange," near Harrow-on-the-Hill. Later they will visit places of interest on the Continent and are not expected to return to Richmond until some time in October or November.

Leaving Town.
Miss Anna Cussen expects to leave town this week for Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., where she will spend the remainder of the summer and a portion of September. Miss Cussen and her sister have taken a cottage in the Green Spring Valley for the season.

Mrs. George H. Hillgartner, Miss Gertrude Hillgartner and G. H. Hillgartner, Jr., are leaving Thursday to spend the rest of the season in West Virginia.

Entertained in Wytheville.
The name of Mrs. May Walton Kent, in Wytheville, was the scene of a large and brilliant reception on Tuesday evening. The grounds, the porch and interior of the house were beautifully decorated and lighted with Japanese lanterns.

The guests were received by Mrs. Clarence M. Smith, Mrs. W. S. Moore and Miss Kate Moore and invited into the reception room by Mrs. W. H. Riddle, Jr. The guests of honor, receiving with Mrs. Kent were Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Cloyd Kent, of Richmond; Mrs. Johnson, of Norfolk; Miss Bettie Moore, Mrs. William Williams, of Detroit; and Miss Mary Rogers, of Roanoke. Punch was served in the yard by Miss Flora Stuart and Mrs. Robert Sayers. Five hundred and fifty guests were present, and the evening was played on the porch and an informal musical program was rendered in the large reception room. Those taking part were Mrs. E. Lee Trinkle, Miss Fannie Mae Sexton, Mrs. Ovid Johnson, Mrs. Pawson, of Byrd; Miss Evelyn Harrison and Mrs. May Walton Kent, with several of her original compositions. Refreshments were served by Misses Lucy and Alice Penleton, Norma Terry, Willie Heuser, Lella Day, Katherine Hodges, Evelyn Harrison and Mrs. Mosby.

Miss Nellie Merton, of this city, who is visiting in Wytheville, was among the guests invited by Mrs. Kent.

Miss Clarke Honored.
A beautiful collation was given at the Rockbridge Alum Springs last Tuesday evening in honor of the arrival of Miss Bettie Clarke, of this city. Miss Clarke is one of the most popular members of the older society set in Richmond, and much entertaining is done in her honor each season at the Rockbridge Alum, where she spends the better part of each summer. Some thirty couples took part in the German, which was led by H. E. Saxe, of Tampa, Fla., dancing with Miss Grace Shepherd, of Dumfries, an elaborate supper being served later in the dining-room of the hotel.

Visiting Here.
Miss Mattie C. Rhodes, of Cartersville, has been visiting relatives and friends in Richmond for the past several days. Mrs. Rhodes is with her daughter, Mrs. Philip H. Mason, at her home, 220 South Third Street.

Birthday Party.
An attractive affair of the past week was a birthday party given by Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Pond, of 8 East Clay Street, in celebration of the sixth birthday of their son, Edward Sutton Pond. The children were entertained on Thursday, and taken for a hay ride to the Reservoir Park, and on their return, refreshments were served, the birthday cake and its candles being the feature of the table decorations. Mrs. Pond, Mrs. E. C. Folkes chaperoned the affair.

Married in Washington.
Miss Rosa May Parrish, of Richmond, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Parrish, of Peers, and James A. Cheatham, of Yorkville, N. C., were married in Washington on July 18 at 6 P. M. They are now touring the North, and will be at home in Yorkville after August 1.

In and Out of Town.
Miss Nellie Renolds is visiting Miss Mary Haves at Lake Mahopac, N. Y., for several weeks.

Miss Jane Strudwick returned to Richmond on Saturday, after spending a month with relatives at Hillsboro, N. C.

Miss Grace Arents is at the Virginia Hot Springs for the remainder of the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Rosenbaum, of this city, are spending some time at Mountain Lake.

Miss Catherine Carson has left for the Warm Springs Springs, where she is with friends for several weeks.

Mrs. H. G. Manson and O. Watson are registered at the Hotel Dennis, in Atlantic City.

Miss Susan McPheters, of Raleigh, N. C., who has been visiting Mrs. R. S. Plummer, at 1505 West Avenue, has returned to her home.

Misses Nell and George Tucker, of 611 East Leigh Street, and Misses Lovie and Pearl Smith, of 2215 West Grace Street, will leave Thursday for a trip to Niagara Falls, Toronto, Canada, and other Northern cities.

Mrs. W. S. Pilcher, who has been ill for several weeks, is now recovering, and has gone to Orange for the remainder of the summer.

Miss Frances Belle Chapin left Friday for a trip to Clifton Forge, Lynchburg and Arlington, and expects to return some time in September.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Murrell and G. Harvey Clark have returned to Richmond, after a several weeks' trip abroad.

Miss Fannie Taylor is the guest of Mrs. C. M. Horden, at her home in this city, for some time.

Mrs. Horace Shepperson, who has been in Baltimore and Washington, is now with her sister, Mrs. Harry W. Tyler, at Toano.

Miss Margaret Glass Williams, of Danville, spent a short time here Saturday, en route to attend a house party at the Cason Cottage, at Ocean View.

Miss Edith Whitlock is spending some time with friends in Sunnyside.

Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, of this city, is among the recent arrivals at Crockett Springs.

Ralph Whitlock, of Tobaccoville, is visiting friends in Bedford City for a few days.

Mrs. W. H. Urquhart, Miss Rachel Urquhart and Mrs. E. O. McCabe are at Natural Bridge for the rest of the summer.

James T. Gordon and Miss Evelyn Gordon have been recent guests at the Chamberlin Hotel, Old Point.

Miss Edith Brauer, of Jefferson Park, is spending the summer at the Peaks of Otter.

Misses Inez and Myrtle Hobson, of this city, are visiting Mrs. T. C. Forman at her home in Roanoke.

Mrs. M. L. Richardson and family have gone to "Mountain View," near Gordonsville, for an extended stay.

Charles Sampson and Miss Helen Sampson, who have been in Richmond

Clearance Sale of All Children's Wear

Less than half prices prevail in this department.

Children's Hats that sold for $1 and $1.50; closing lot 39c

Children's Colored Dresses that sold for 50c and 75c to 6 years sizes; closing lot 35c

Children's White and Checked Sun Bonnets, the 25c ones 15c

Children's White Mull Sun Bonnets, $1.25 ones, for only 50c

Infants' Mercerized Lisle Shirts, the 25c ones for 12 1/2c

Children's White Dresses that sold for $1.50 will 98c

Children's Gingham Aprons, the 25c grade, 2 to 6 years, 19c

Children's Colored Dresses, 2 to 6 years, sold for $1.25 and $1.50, choice 75c

Children's $2 and $2.50 Coats, white or colored, 2 to 6 years; not all sizes in color; some slightly soiled from display, 98c

Children's 50c Rompers, white and colored, 1 to 6 years, 39c

Infants' Muslin Caps, slightly soiled from display, 25c 15c

The 50c ones for 25c

The 75c and 98c ones for 39c

For a short visit, have returned to their home in Norfolk.

Mrs. H. L. Belote and little Earl Saunders, of Norfolk, are visiting Mrs. F. S. Bullington, in Highland Park.

Mrs. Cabell Hancock Cauthorne, of 115 East Franklin Street, left Friday night for Mountain Lake, where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lyman Denison.

Miss Ray Winn, of Winnsville, Fla., who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John F. Winn, at 5 West Grace Street.

Mrs. O. H. Whitlock, of Danville, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fowlkes.

Miss Ethel Hutchinson, accompanied by Miss Ruth Luck, is spending the month of July near Waverly.

Mrs. A. W. Llesfield, of this city, is stopping at the Islesworth Hotel, in Atlantic City, this week.

Miss Ruby L. Powell and Miss Hazel Powell, who have been visiting at Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach, N. C., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Longley, have returned to the city.

Miss Ruth Fowlkes is the guest of Miss Emma Peebles, at her home near Emporia.

Miss Blair Whitlock has as her guest for a few days, Miss Gladys Fleming, of Green Castle, Pa.

Misses Claire Taylor and Irene Bowen are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. Joseph Bunce, at her home in Norfolk.

After a visit of several weeks, Miss J. Urner has returned from Willoughby Beach, Mrs. Urner and Miss Ann Urner will remain at the Beach.

Mrs. N. H. Leland left yesterday for Atlantic City. Returning, she will visit her son, R. E. Leland, in Chambersburg, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward McCarthy will be absent from the city until August 7. They will visit relatives in Rockingham County.

Miss Anna Marshall returned yesterday after a visit to Norfolk, Ocean View and other points.

Miss Mabel Edmonds has returned from a visit to her aunt, Mrs. Blanche French Huddleston, in Fairmont, W. Va.

Miss Ray Winn, of Winnsville, Fla., who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John F. Winn, of 5 West Grace

WILL GIVE DIKELOM TO PRINCE ARTHUR

Bestowal to Be Made by King on Occasion of Cousin's Wedding.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.

KING GEORGE has the intention of bestowing a dukedom upon his cousin, Prince Arthur of Connaught, either just before his marriage, or on the occasion of his wedding, and in this way the dukedom of Fife, which he will receive from the crown, will become merged in that of his father, the Duke of Devonshire.

It may be hoped that some similar match may be found for the Duchess of Fife's younger sister, Maud. For when Edward VII. bestowed the title of princess with the predicate of "highness" upon the two children of his eldest daughter, the now Dowager Duchess of Fife, he omitted to state of what they are princesses. They are certainly not princesses of Great Britain and Ireland, nor are they Princesses of Duff, the patronymic of their late father. Until the King bestowed upon them the title of princess, they were more commonly known as the Duchess of Fife and Lady Maud Duff, their title of "Lady" being merely one of courtesy, invariably accorded to the daughters of dukes, marquesses and earls.

While Princess Maud is well provided for under the will of her father, the bulk of his fortune will go, after the death of his wife, to his only daughter, the bride of Prince Arthur. Indeed, her inheritance will amount to some $4,000,000.

Prince Arthur has no fortune of his own. But he is the only son of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, who are both exceedingly well off. The Duke of Connaught has a civil list, as a prince of the blood, of $125,000 a year. In addition to a London house, known as Clarence House, and a country seat in Bunbury Park, both of which, being crown property, cost him nothing in the way of maintenance and repair. Besides this, he has at present a salary of $50,000 a year as Governor-General of Canada, and allowances. Moreover, he was one of the principal beneficiaries under the will of his great-grandfather, the Duke of Devonshire, who left him a large private fortune.

And to this that the late Prince Frederick Charles of Prussia, father of the Duchess of Connaught, was one of the richest of the British royal family, and that the duchess in addition to her dowry inherited a large amount of property from her father, and it will be realized that the Prince Arthur's parents are in a position to make a very handsome allowance, and to leave him particularly well off when they die.

Incidentally, I may mention that Viscount Carmichael, who was locked up in the Tombs of New York the other day, on a charge of defrauding the Fire Insurance Company of North America, by filing a false proof of loss, has no ground whatsoever for his claim to be related to the young Duchess of Fife, or to be descended from "the Earl of Fife." I have before me a genealogy of the Duff family, of which the late Duke of Devonshire was a member.

You can stay out late at nights if you have

DIAGRAMP

AT HOME.

It will send you to the office with a bright eye, a swinging step and an atmosphere of vigor that will make people know that you are a successful business man. Buy it! Try it! Always use DIAGRAMP. A neat package, 10c for three doses. Absolutely safe; most efficient; it will make you feel like a cool morning in dog days.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

J. B. Mosby & Co.

CLOVER DAY, MONDAY, JULY 28th

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's

Duke of Fife was the chief, and there is no Carmichael among the descendants of any of the five earls.

As I have pointed out before in these letters, the good birth in England, when involved in the toils of criminal law, invariably endeavor to conceal the names of their family, for the purpose of averting the disgrace resulting even from the charge of crime against one of its members. When a foreigner in this country is looked up in connection with some criminal offense, and claims to be a noble, his pretensions are therefore, nearly always, regarded with contempt and derision.

Thus, last month nearly every newspaper in the country printed the story of a convict on his release from the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Ohio, on the completion of his three-year term, to the effect that he was in reality Sir Frederick Grey, and claiming to be the son and heir of Lord Grey of Ruthyn, and brother of the Hon. Lady Edith Grey, of Ruthyn, Lancashire. Incidentally he admitted having done time in England before crossing the Atlantic.

Now, the most cursory reference to any of the English "peerages," is sufficient to show that the patronymic of Lord Grey of Ruthyn is not Grey, but Clifford. Also that the late Lord Grey of Ruthyn, who succeeded to the peerage some thirty years ago, died last year without leaving any children. The present Lord Grey de Ruthyn, now only five years of age, who passed through New York the other day from England, on his way to his ranch, near Round Bay, Montana, where he has made his home for the past year, is the only child of his father, one of them a sexagenarian widow, known as Mrs. Lancelotti Butler Bowden, of Balbr House, Chesterfield, England, while the other sister, known as Mrs. Lancelotti Butler Bowden, is now married to a Mr. Lancelotti Butler Bowden, of Balbr House, Chesterfield, England.

Consequently there is no such person as "Lady Edith Grey of Ruthyn." Finally, Ruthyn, or Ruthin, is not in Lancashire, but in North Wales. If I go to the trouble to explain this, it is to relieve Lord Grey de Ruthyn and his family—one of the most historic and honored houses of the old English nobility—from the imputation under which they have been placed by the Leavenworth prisoner's widely published lies of having a twice-convicted criminal among their members.

Mention has often been made in these letters of the fact that the triumvirate of stewards of the English Jockey Club are the supreme court of the British Empire, and that their decisions are final and unappealable. This has occasionally led to the query as to whence this triumvirate derives its authority.

Under the question has more than once been brought upon the table by the action of the stewards in disqualifying Bruce Ismay's horse Craganor, which came in first at the recent Derby race. Millions of dollars changed hands in England and abroad, and it is, therefore, not right that an explanation should be given as to the right of the stewards of the Jockey Club to thus disqualify the winner, and to accord the victory to the horse which came in second.

The fact of the matter is that the Jockey Club, which dates from 1751, has gradually acquired control of the racing world in Great Britain, and having drawn up regulations known as the rules of racing, every owner who enters a horse for a race to race, and who is bound to hold to have agreed to be bound by them. When an owner enters a horse for a race to race, and who is bound to hold to have agreed to be bound by them. When an owner enters a horse for a race to race, and who is bound to hold to have agreed to be bound by them.

Naturally, Bruce Ismay could have appealed from the decision of the stewards about Craganor in the last Derby race, to a court of law. But it was pointed out to him that he would have no chance of success, and his intention was called to the circumstance that in the very few instances where an appeal had been made to the courts from the decision of the stewards of the Jockey Club, the latter had been upheld in every instance. Thus, some sixty years ago, when the owner of a horse at the Hovden Spring meeting sued the owner of the actual winner of the race, a horse named Milkmaid, for the stakes, on the ground of foul riding, he was defeated. It being held that the rules of racing provided that all disputes should be settled by appeal to the Jockey Club, "whose decision shall be final." The court therefore, held that there could be no appeal from the stewards on matters of fact, or the interpretation of the rules of the race, unless there had been any material alteration of the constitution of the tribunal which the triumvirate formed, without the consent of the disputants.

Despite his constantly multiplying duties, the young man finds time to read on a variety of subjects. He is already fairly well versed upon the history of the relations of capital and labor, and although strongly inclined

FOUR ARE KILLED, OTHERS INURED

Train Leaves Track and Dashes Into Gang of Workmen.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Nuttley, N. J., July 27.—Four men were killed and several others injured near West Nuttley this afternoon, when an Erie construction train jumped the track and dashed into the midst of a gang of track repairers, who had stepped aside to let the train pass.

The dead:
Nicholas Silver, No. 187 Barclay Street, Paterson, N. J.
Anthony Pollish, Paterson, address unknown.
Angelo Perottoni, of 130 Vine Street, Paterson.

Samuel Zeulban, Paterson, N. J.
A passenger train had just passed before the accident occurred, and the work train, taking a siding to allow the passenger train to go by, was switching back on the main track when the locomotive left the rails.

What caused the accident is not known, but it is believed the rails spread.

NO OPPOSITION FOR O. L. STARNES

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Salem, N. J., July 27.—The Democratic committee of Roanoke County met yesterday to arrange details for the primary on August 1. No opposition was shown to his candidacy for the House of Delegates, O. L. Starnes was nominated to succeed Colonel A. M. Bowman, the veteran legislator in this position. Mr. Starnes' name will therefore not appear on the primary ballot, and it is a strength in the county, as the county assessor, his election should the Republicans make a nomination, which seems unlikely.

ASTOR PLANNING MODERN UTOPIA

Master of Ferncliff Seeks to Establish Ideal Conditions on Estate.

TALKS TO EMPLOYEES

Already He Has Raised Wages $100,000 a Year and Established Pensions.

New York, July 27.—Vincent Astor is planning to transform his magnificent estate at Rhinecliff into a modern Utopia as far as conditions of labor are concerned.

As the first step in what the young man terms "industrial democracy," just before sailing to-day on his regular week-end cruise on the Nomad, he conferred with many of the 1,000 men, women and children employed at Ferncliff.

"I desire to get into the closest possible touch with every department on the place," had been his message to them. "If you have any complaint or suggestion to make, come to me personally each Saturday morning. I will see you and talk to you as man to man and not as employer to employee."

Mr. Astor had expected that in response to his advances dozens would flock to him with complaints. Instead, while a small army assembled, only three employees came forward to speak to him. They simply wanted to greet the young suzerain of Ferncliff and thank him for what he has done for them since he has undertaken the management of the estate.

Last September, when he had definitely decided not to return to Harvard, Mr. Astor said he would look after the estate and its employees to the best of his ability. In the last few months he has gradually raised wages until the payroll at Ferncliff shows an increase of approximately $100,000 a year.

To carry out his scheme of an ideal "industrial democracy" at Ferncliff, Mr. Astor has also decided to retire old employees on a pension after a certain term of service. There are several families on the place who have been with the Astors for three generations, and these are as secure in their own little cottages as though they held deeds to the properties.

Ferncliff, under the present management, is really a self-supporting municipality of over 3,000 acres. Mr. Astor has told his intimate friends that he realizes that most of his wealth comes through the increase of real estate values and he carries that hypothesis to its logical conclusion in these words:

"It is my duty to show my gratitude by taking an interest in great public movements and in every way to attempt to add mankind to the sum of good. I have determined, also, to avoid the weaker things of his life and among these he includes 'too much society.'"

Despite his constantly multiplying duties, the young man finds time to read on a variety of subjects. He is already fairly well versed upon the history of the relations of capital and labor, and although strongly inclined

A Summer Vacation in New York at

THE PLAZA

Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street

is an ideal one, as the Metropolis offers every facility for enjoyment, and the Plaza every comfort and luxury.

It is delightfully located opposite Central Park, assuring peace and quiet. Summer Terrace Restaurant.

The coolest Hotel in New York. Convenient to theatres, shopping district and nearby coast resorts.

Special Rates during the Summer Season
FRED STERRY Managing Director

Gold Watches

We carry at all times the most representative patterns of the world's best watch specialists.

Prospective watch buyers will do well to consult our stock and prices.

SCHWARTZKILDE BROS.
Richmond's Leading Jewelers,
Second and Broad Sts.

against it, both by heredity and environment, he is going a bit into true socialism.

He is inclined to the belief that a great many of the ills that have had their genesis in the capitalist system can be cured by the individual capitalist. And it is upon this theory that he has inaugurated these weekly conferences with his employees.

CULPEPER FIGHT IS GROWING WARM

Spirited Contest Between Bell and Smith for House of Delegates.

Culpeper, Va., July 27.—A contest between the two leading delegates to the Virginia House of Delegates, Albert Bell and Harry Smith, and their friends, grew very warm recently. The Democratic primary, which has been set for August 1, grows nearer. In both of the local newspapers recently there was a communication written over his own name by Joseph H. Brown, of Hazel River, charging Mr. Bell with having stolen the election of 1912, and in last week's issue Mr. Bell replied by asking that his opponent be asked the same question.

The Culpeper Lodge of Masons was host on Monday to the Charlottesville local and a number of visitors, including Past State Commander L. M. Rottin and the members of the Culpeper and K. O. T. lodge, who had played at the Culpeper ball grounds that evening, at a most enjoyable banquet. Following the banquet a meeting was held in the lodge room, where Mr. E. Johnson, of the Culpeper bar, made an address of welcome, which was responded to by Commander Rottin. O. M. Bailey and Lucian Hudson, prominent members of the lodge here, also made speeches.

Dr. D. D. Johnson, of Spartanburg, S. C., who several years ago bought the Western View estate on the Brandy-Stevensburg Road, for so long owned by the late Mr. McCandless of Philadelphia, and subsequently sold it to Dr. John Hough, of Birmingham, Ala., has been spending this week in Culpeper, where he is being entertained by his former home. Finding that not for sale, Dr. Johnson has been looking at several other properties with a view to buying, saying that it is his purpose to locate permanently in this section.

Jerry J. Bailey, the son of the late David Bailey and Mrs. Hannah Bailey, died at his home here on Wednesday night, after an illness of several months. He is survived by his mother, four sisters—Mrs. E. L. Griffith, of Staunton; Mrs. Lewis Whitlock, of Culpeper; Mrs. H. H. Bailey, of Culpeper; three brothers, Cleveland Bailey, of Alexandria; Albert and William Bailey, of Culpeper. The funeral took place from the Catholic Church on Friday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. Father T. J. Crose, of Charlottesville, with interment in Fairview Cemetery.

Two negroes were arrested by Sergeant Sweetman charged with robbing the houses on the premises of C. M. White and Hym Leavelle. When tried before Judge Hill they admitted their guilt, and were sentenced to pay fines and to receive sound thrappings at the County Jail, which were duly administered under Sergeant Sweetman's supervision.

Horton Wood of Rappahannock, who formerly represented that county and Greene in the State Legislature, returned this week from Richmond, where he had been under treatment at the Memorial Hospital. His regret to learn that his condition continued quite critical.